ABOUT THE PRODUCTS

Every day, Danieli handmakes taralli—artisan Italian crackers in the shape of rings—according to traditional recipes that have been handed down in secret and scrupulously guarded. Freshly milled Puglian flour, high quality extra virgin olive oil, white wine, and other fine ingredients are mixed into a dough which is then extruded and hand-shaped. “Fare i taralli” takes specialized hands and is an art in itself! The shaped taralli are boiled in water before baked in the oven until golden brown and crisp. Packaging the taralli is strictly done by hand as well.

WHY WE LOVE THEM

As soon as a customer tastes their first bite of Danieli taralli, we hear: “These are the BEST taralli I’ve ever had!” Danieli’s taralli are exceptionally delicious. They have a wonderful savory flavor, rich with extra virgin olive oil, and an outstanding flaky texture, similar to that of a laminated pastry. Once you’ve had one, it is hard to resist eating the entire bag of these crunchy snacks.

ABOUT DANIELI

From BITONTO, PUGLIA

Danieli has its roots in the heart of Puglia in Bitonto, a town north of Bari renowned for its extra virgin olive oil. For years, the company has been producing traditional Puglian artisan bakery products. Danieli’s pride and joy is the “tarallo,” a typical Puglian cracker made with extra virgin olive oil, which they offer in a variety of flavors.

BUON APPETITO
